Trials Of War Criminals Causes Great Dejection Among German Military

London.—Sir Ernest Pollock, the solicitor-general, replying in the House of Commons to a question by Horatio Bottomley, Liberal, as to whether Sir Ernest was satisfied with the result thus far of the trials of the war criminals in Leipzig, said it would be improper to make a statement at this time. He added, however: "Perhaps Mr. Bottomley might be glad to know that a sentence delivered in my presence caused great objection among the military part of the German, and that the officers there certainly did not think it a small sentence to have one of their number sent to the ordinary prison in order to carry out a sentence of ten months among thieves and felons."

Referring to one of the accused who was charged with sinking a hospital ship and fled from Germany as soon as the list of accused men was published, the Solicitor-General said, every effort was being made to arrest the man and his property has been sequestered.

The German officer to whom Sir Ernest referred as having been sent to the ordinary prison was Sergt. Heyne, who was sentenced to ten months' imprisonment May 26 for ill-treating British soldiers who were prisoners of war in the prison camp in Herne, Westphalia.

Admiral Sims Stands By Statement

Sees Nothing Un-American in Speech About Sinn Fein.

London.—Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, U.S.N., is quoted by the Press Association as saying with regard to the speech he delivered on the Irish question: "I stand by all I said, every word of it. I shall not repudiate a single word, and I see nothing un-American in it."

Admiral Sims, who said he had not received the cablegram reported to have been sent him by Secretary of the Navy Denby, replying to the admiral was correctly quoted in the press reports of his speech, has arranged to have the cable message delivered to him as soon as it reaches London.

Speaking at a luncheon given by the English-speaking Union at London recently, Admiral Sims dealt frankly with Sinn Fein propagandists in the United States. He was said to have declared that the persons he assailed were United States citizens "when they want money, but Sinn Feiners when on the platform," and added: "They are making war on America today."

Strong Plea Is Made For Peace Of The World

President Harding Speaks of High Ideals of Canada and the United States, Following Address of Hon. N. W. Rowell.

Washington.—President Harding delivering a commencement address at the American University here, found the subject of world peace occupying so prominent a place on the programs that he was prompted to depart from his prepared manuscript and declare for the preservation of peace by sovereign states without the interference of a world "superpower."

The President's remarks followed an address by Hon. N. W. Rowell, of Canada, who suggested that the best contribution North America could make to civilization was "for men on this side of the water to stand behind as movement for peaceful settlement of international disputes."

"I do not think I could let the occasion pass," said the President, "without giving assent to many of the appropriate and appealing things just uttered by Mr. Rowell. I liked his expression that American and Canadian ideals are in common and when he spoke about the North American contribution to present day civilization and to the world, it occurred to me that the example of the two great people living side by side in peace, in

Proposed Imperial Air Mail Service

Scheme Would Give Britain Fast Service to Colonies.

London.—A scheme for an imperial air service is suggested to the government by A. H. Ashbolt, agent-general for Tasmania, with a view to the utilization of surplus airships and planes.

His proposal is that a company be formed with a large capital, one-half of which would be taken up by the governments of India, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and the Malay States, and one-half by public subscription. The plan is that a great air mail service should be organized which would bring Great Britain within five days distance of India and South Africa, and within 10 days of Australia.

Insect damage in the shape of cutworms and grasshoppers is still spoken of in several points. As regards the grasshopper menace, all provinces speak of the pests, but the same reports say that all interested parties are on the job of combatting them.

Attempt to Check Opium Smuggling Caused Uprising.

Hankow, China.—Mutinous Chinese troops have looted and partially burned Ichang, a treaty port 156 miles northwest of here, for the second time in six months, according to official reports reaching Hankow.

British, United States and Japanese gunboats have been despatched to Ichang.

Consular reports indicate that attempts to check troops in reported opium smuggling operations caused the uprising.

Casualties have not been determined, but are expected to exceed those of the November mutiny at Ichang when sixty were killed and two million dollars in property destroyed.

Indians Sell Standing Timber

Redskins Will Become Wealthy Through Big Deal.

Superior, Wis.—Contracts with Chippewa Indians of the Net Lake, Minn., reservation have been signed by the Northwestern Paper Company of Colquet, Minn., whereby the company will pay them approximately $500,000 for from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 feet of sawed timber and pulpwood in the vicinity of Net Lake.

The deal marks the sale of the last large tract of standing timber in the Lake Superior district owned by Indians. Some of the Indians will receive as high as $10,000 and $15,000 for timber on an 80-acre allotment.

From papers, many of the redskins have become wealthy.

The Indians are among the most primitive in the north-woods and what they will do with their newly acquired fortunes is causing Government agents much concern.

The Coal Shortage in Britain

To Meet Situation National Kitchen Sold Hot Water to the Working People.

North Eng.—The shortage of coal has been so serious here during the strike of miners that the people were unable to obtain hot water. To meet this situation, the National Kitchen, which happened to have a supply of coal, sold hot water to the working people at one-half penny a bucket.

The shortage of coal also produced a shortage of ice as it handicapped the artificial ice plants. To obviate this, trawlers were sent to Holland to bring coal which they exchanged here for ice.

Retail Duty On Lumber

Washington.—The ways and means committee of the House decided to include in the Permanent Tariff Bill a duty on lumber similar to that imposed by Canada upon lumber sent to the Dominion from the United States. True Bear Stories

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

Well he realized that if this shot was not a fatal one his chances were slim, still he went on with dauntless courage, though as he told me his heart beat a little faster than usual. At last he noted a huge dead spruce tree fallen across the track, and stopping and studying the situation he felt convinced that Mr. Bear was either concealed behind this or very close to it.

Creeping up to within a few feet of the tree, full cocking his smooth bore gun, he broke a dry stick sharply and on the instant over the tree came the grizzly, mane bristling like an angry dog, mouth wide open with huge fangs exposed, growling savagely he charged right at Robert; he, waiting until the bear was so close the powder burnt his flesh, shot him right through the brain and killed him instantly. Robert camped beside his victim that night and carefully skinned him, but like so many of his kind the skin was in poor shape, scars and holes all over it, also traces of several old bullet wounds. He was very thin and, as Robert quietly expressed himself, mighty hard chewing.

The introd of the grizzly into our country caused much excitement amongst the Indians as their huge claws are much coveted by the young warriors as signs of their prowess in hunting. Old Kinistone, however, was the only one who had a necktie of these and it was exciting enough to hear him tell of his fights with them when on buffalo hunting and horse stealing excursions to the Great Plains.

In my own case there was food for thought as most of the winter trips to Indians I was sleeping out and invariably alone, hardly ever carried fire arms and would certes have been an easy prey for a wandering grizzly.

It was the fifth night out after a trip on my homeward journey, with a game little mare named Nellie who was well beyond description; I had a sled with a bulky load of furs; the weather was intensely cold, in February, I think, and I had selected a camping place somewhat earlier than usual; this in the middle of a small growth of birch with a bunch of dry trees in the centre; near at hand was a dry hay-stack well sheltered by scrub and timber and in this I tethered my pony to a green pole about the size of a fence rail, notching the centre slightly so that the tie would not slip; she could drag this about the swamp and keep herself warm by pawing the snow for the dried grass underneath. To obviate this, I attempted to leave the swamp the pole would at once catch the trees.

About an hour's hard axe work gave me a camp; a nice little clearing with two large piles of wood on each side of the fire, wood cut to about five foot lengths and you can then stretch your length and enjoy the heat front and back, for in spite of severe cold you are bound to sweat more or less while travelling. Unloading the sleigh I piled the bales at the back, and with the snow shovelled (by snow-shoe), made a break from any wind on three sides while the front was a dried grass mat. After a good supper and a final trip to my pony in which the tether was carefully inspected, also a quart of oats placed on the ground for her feed, I wished her goodnight, remarking at the time, "Well, Nellie, we have about thirty-five miles to make tomorrow and we must start early if we intend reaching home. I think I will get up at half past two. She gave a wise little nicker and back to camp I went. My large fire had burnt down to glowing coals so I at once made up my bed and a description of this may interest readers.

The snow had been well cleaned off and on the ground I spread fine willows (there being no spruce), over this came a heavy armful of hay and cut with my sheath knife in the swamp, and there it was no longer warmer to sleep on, on this my bed, killed later with the winter hair and on only scraped, not tanned as then it would be too soft and one would feel the lumps below; this is laid flat up so that you lay against the hair and do not slip off. For covering a 3 1/2 point Hudsons Bay blanket, always white, as they are so much warmer than colored blankets, over this my rabbit skin robe and over all my double wrapper which protects the bedding from any stray sparks. The fire goes out, but no matter how low the thermometer goes down, and it may have been 40 below zero that night one can sleep warm and comfortable.

Covering up my head as is customary and necessary when exposed to such low temperatures I was soon fast asleep, and after a few hours sound repose I was awakened by a tug at my bedding. Was I dreaming? No, I could both feel and hear the animal moving. My thoughts flew back to the grizzly bear, the only weapon I had was a light axe and for the life of me I could not recollect just where I had placed this over night. Well, I was up against it and could either feel or imagine the hot breath of the brute, so summoning up all my resolution I threw the bedding back and here was Nellie's wise little head within a foot of my own. Such a relief. Looking at my watch it was twenty minutes to three, so I at once rose with the blankets gracefully draped round me and made on a huge fire. My, but the little mare did enjoy it as I stripped her blanket off, it being covered with frost, and she, carefully stepping, would turn first one side and then the other to the heat. Well, I found on examination that she was fast tethered to the pole and wondered how she could have dragged it in through the narrow path I had cut to the swamp. On looking at the tracks I decided that when the pole would catch she had noted it straight again and continued doing this until her line allowed her to reach my camp. At breakfast, which I always shared with her, she being very fond of both bread and sugar, I made a promise, and it was that I would never part with her, and when she got beyond work she would be pensioned off. This in due time happened and she passed a serene old age surrounded by her off-spring, some of whom can be seen driving into Melfort today, handsome enough, but I doubt if any could show the same lion like courage and hardiness which little Nellie proved on many a long trip.

Teachers Must Not Paint or Powder

Supt. Would Send Home Pedagogues Whose Faces Are Not Clean

New Bedford, Mass., May 13.—The use of cosmetics by teachers in the public school was forbidden in an order issued by Supt. Allen P. Kelitt. Explaining it, he said: "Teachers must have clean faces. Children coming to school with dirty faces are sent home to wash them. I believe the same rule should be applied to teachers who use powder and paint. The order also directed shortened skirts, but left their length to the discretion of the teachers.

The opinion of a number of teachers was that while some teachers use cosmetics, they are very few. One teacher declared she believed the matter was within the personal rights of the individual, and that it was "none of the school authorities' business."

was a shame to bring the matter before the public in the newspapers and that a few offenders were being punished over books of the majority."

Far Away Green Fields

By E. L.

Elizabeth had a hard day. It had been dismal and cold and the furnace had been giving trouble, and the babies had been cross, and as she looked discontentedly out at the snow-clad prairie, stretching away to the horizon, she made up her mind, as women sometimes do, that she and John and the babies should seek a warmer clime. What was the use of living in a place, quoth she to herself, where it was so cold and miserable for such a great part of the year and where the women and children were of necessity cooped up in the house all the time, and where, chief aggravation, they had to spend so much money on coal. No wonder, she thought, that so many people left this God-forsaken spot and went away to British Columbia or the Southern States where in the sunlight and the flowers life must be worth while.

And while she undressed the babies, she still called them the babies all right. Harold was two and Winnie nearly four, ways and means of getting out of the cold prairie country passed continuously through her mind. Of course she knew she would miss her old friends, but then thought she, other people moved and they had to leave their friends and seemed quite contented in so doing. Elizabeth did not take into consideration the fact that she clung to her old ways and her old associations more than most people and that the prettiest scene in the world was always more enjoyable to her if she could contemplate it surrounded by those she loved. No, like so many people who are guided mainly by impulse she did not go into the details at all. She decided that she hated this cold, hard snow bound country and that she wanted to live where it was softer, more pleasant and beautiful. By the time she had kissed the babies "good-night" she had mentally persuaded her husband to give up his position, sell their home and, in fancy, she was sitting on the train with the children bound for the "sunny south."

As luck would have it John came home from the office somewhat dispirited. Everything had gone wrong there on the day cold day; there had been misunderstandings with the office force, a scene with the boss, and an aggravating story of conscientiousness and suggested effort, so that when Elizabeth unfolded her plan to him of getting out and hiring themselves away to a place which fancy began to paint as a veritable Utopia, he lent a ready ear and said, "All right, I'll put the house in Green's hands tomorrow for sale and if we get our price, we'll get out. I'll write to some firms where I might get a job and tell that sucker," meaning his boss, "to get someone else to handle his old job!"

It all worked like a charm. They were able to sell their house at a splendid figure, more than they had hoped for, and just when they were rejoicing over this piece of good fortune John received a very pleasing reply to one of his letters of application, offering him a good position in a small town in one of the southern states. Elizabeth was delighted, and even when they sold their furniture hardly felt a qualm, so pleased did she imagine she was to get away from the snow and cold of the prairies. It was only when her friends began to look sad and when her mother shook her head sorrowfully that she felt any remorse, but she tried to cheer her mother up by saying, "Well, mother, if it's nice there, perhaps you could come too!" The old lady shook her head and remarked:

"I am getting too old to transplant now. Elizabeth, I came to this prairie country many and many a year ago from dear old Scotland, which is beautiful enough, ye know, but I have gotten used to the ice and the snow and the wonder of the prairie with its golden grain in the summer after its travail of the winter months, and we have prospered here. No, no, I wouldn't like to change again. The prairie with all her hardships has been a friend to me and mine and I'm thankful I'll be buried here."

Elizabeth knew the story of her parents' immigration to the prairie country, how they had come, with nothing and how they had worked and striven and saved. For years there had seemed little reward for their efforts, but at last they came home with their own money and had gained comfort and a real competence in their later years, and for a moment a little doubt crept into her mind as to the wisdom of her plan and then she remembered a picture of the beautiful country to which they were going, which had been sent to her, and as she envisioned the children, Harold and Winnie gambolling amidst the flowers and the roses, she banished all regrets.

When John and Elizabeth arrived in Maryland, the roses were in full bloom. The air was hot and the atmosphere somewhat heavy, but of this Elizabeth made no mention. She had determined to like her new surroundings. Then the little prairie bred child began to wilt in the heat and John looked paler and paler as the days went by. Elizabeth, though a socially little soul enough among her own folks was shy and distant with strangers and the southern methods did not appeal to her hard northern notions and so she was left very much alone. She, Elizabeth, who had been the centre of her little community at home!

"Mamma," said Harold one sunny day in July when he had hummed amidst the flowers, and the grapes hung heavy on the vines which climbed about the house, "My head aches and my tummy hurts, I would like to see my Gamma." The usually bright little fellow stretched himself out on the couch in the sitting room and Elizabeth felt a pang of dread as she looked at his heavy eyes and pale little face. He had never been sick at home. She glanced quickly at Winnie and thought the child seemed dull too. Was this to be the result of leaving her home and friends so that they might play in the sunshine? She asked herself. Was she to lose either or both of her children? Her heart cried out in protest as she flew to the telephone and called a doctor.

Both the children were very very ill, and the doctor told Elizabeth and John that the climate did not agree with them. John, too, had illness and Elizabeth felt herself drooping and languid, but she felt she dare not let herself go for the sake of the others and many were the anxious pleading prayers she prayed that they all might be spared to return home again. She was so tired and so lonely amidst all the beauty and laughter of the south, and actually longed for the snow bound wintry streets of her own little prairie town and did not feel that she cared how much cold they had to burn, if only she could feel the invigorating frost bitten breezes again, which she felt put new life and vigor and ambition into people.

So John wrote to his old drabky "boss" and received a letter from him in reply which brought tears to both their eyes as Elizabeth and he read it. It said that they would be only too glad to have him back, and promised him an advancement in the very near future, and hinted, wisely, too, that for a young man there were no better opportunities than in the prairie country.

And six months from the time they left the little town, they returned. They had spent a great deal of money and the babies had suffered much, but Elizabeth and John had learned a wonderful lesson regarding distant green fields which seem so beautiful in most of our lives, at some time or other, and which prove merely a mirage after all.

And they settled down to make the best of their lives on the prairie, with its cold, its snow and its hardships, for they had found that there were sufficient compensations to them to make up for the whole of the sunny southland.

Plants Generate Electricity

Would Solve Light Problem If It Could Be Used.

All living plants generate electricity and when they die this is discharged into the air. If science could only devise some plan for capturing this dissipated electricity, and harnessing it to the use of man, the problem of light and power would be solved for all time; for countless millions of plants are constantly dying all over the world, and releasing an immense amount of electricity. Electricians tell us that if it were possible for all the trees in a forest to die at exactly the same moment a terrible catastrophe would be the result. Every body living within a radius of many miles would be instantly electrocuted, and all animals and birds in the same area would suffer a like fate.

France Has Currency Problem

Experimental Issues of Paper Money Proved Failure.

France is facing a serious problem in supplying a currency to take the place of small silver change, which disappears like magic in this country. Experimental issues of paper money in small denominations have not met the problem and have resulted only in general exasperation.

This paper currency becomes ragged, and the Government decided to replace it by aluminum coins. It requires small money to the value of 400,000,000 francs to meet the requirements of francs, however, and the mint has a maximum capacity of 100,000,000 francs per year.

Summer Storage of Coal

On the subject of storage of domestic coal during the summer it has been usual in England when coal was stored without shelter, that a wall was built of coal blocks around the central pile, and a coat of whitewash applied over all; and that this had the effect of preserving the coal from the action of the weather.—Edmonton Bulletin.

"Your Teeth"

By Rea Proctor McGee, M.D.,
D.D.S., Editor of Oral Hygiene

Copyright, 1921, by Rea Proctor McGee.

It is very amusing to see a couple of foreigners, or even home folks sometimes, waving and gesturing wildly with their hands in an ordinary conversation.

We don't seem to consider that it is up to the hands to help with the talk and do a little of the mouth's work occasionally; the mouth certainly does enough work that belongs to the hands.

From our earliest infancy to tottering old age we use the mouth as an amateur workshop, testing laboratory, carry-all, thread-cutter, pencil-sharpener, lubricator, wrench, vice, wedge on of offense and defense—and for unnumbered other duties in addition to its proper work.

In fact the mouth is commonly used as a third hand. This means an enormous amount of wear and tear—upon the teeth, gums and jaws—that does not come from chewing alone.

Almost everything that is put into the mouth has infection of some kind upon it.

The very fact that we suffer so little from this overuse of the mouth shows that the saliva that is a germ slayer, does a very considerable amount of the work of disinfection, but the saliva does not always protect us from infection from these outside sources.

Many very serious conditions arise from the "third hand" use of the mouth. In addition to infection the unreasonable strain upon the teeth often breaks the enamel and occasionally breaks off whole teeth, fillings loosened, decay is encouraged and the irritation to the lips, cheeks, gums and tongue favors cancer.

The habit of biting threads instead of cutting them causes a chronic inflammation of the membrane that covers the roots of the teeth and will cause the loss of the teeth. It is much more comfortable—and cheaper—to buy scissors.

In fact the value of the mouth is so great that it is poor economy to abuse it.

An Englishman's View

London Publisher Says America Is a Paradise Compared With England

To those who are disposed to take a gloomy view of conditions in this country may be commended the following remarks by the New York Times, by Ernest J. P. Benn, a London publisher, a recent visitor. To him America seems, as compared with England, a paradise. "I wish," he said, "I had come here twenty years ago. I would have made me a better business man."

"You have no real poverty because you have no inefficiency. If any of you are poor you don't wallow in it; you have the determination to beat it and get up."

Inefficiency and no poverty and hopelessness here, socialism will not become rampant as it is in England, where our Labor party numbers 10,000,000 people and has imbued fully half the population with the ambition to destroy capitalism. There is no possible chance that this collective idea will ever take root here, as it has all over Europe since the war because there is no soil in which it can grow. This is an industrial El Dorado."—Indianapolis News.

A Growing Bargain

Clever English Woman Got Ahead of Market Gardener.

Some of the English are quite keen on saving and bargain driving as the Scotch. Take the following case: "You can't beat my old woman at getting the most for her money," said one Englishman. "She went to a market gardener and insisted on choosing a marrow that was still growing. 'How much for this one?' she says. 'Eight pence,' says he. 'Too much,' she says. 'What's the price of this little one?' 'Four pence,' he says. 'All right, I'll have it,' and she pays for it on the spot. Then she says, 'But don't cut it up, I'll call for it next week!'"—Boston Transcript.

West Africans And Dictionary.

As he appears able to noisily get-itchy quick ideas he bombards firms whose names he finds in the dictionary with proposals to do big business. Merchants Bank Officials Express Tempered Optimism Regarding Business Situation

President and General Manager Review the Canadian Business Situation With Much Hope—Financial Position of the Bank an Exceptionally Strong One—Crop Outlook Encouraging.

At the annual meeting of the Merchants Bank of Canada, the various reports which were presented showed that this institution occupies a commanding position in Canadian financial affairs. The addresses of the President, Sir Montagu Allan, and the General Manager, Mr. D. C. Macarow, were concise statements of present day conditions and contained an optimistic survey of the future. These reports showed that every department of the bank is in a most excellent condition, and would indicate that this bank is rapidly increasing the sphere of its influence in every avenue of trade and commerce at home and abroad.

The President's Address.

Sir Montagu Allan in part said: "The general depression in business, felt to a greater or lesser degree in every country of the world, has affected the business of the bank to some extent, but we hope the low point of depression has been passed, and that there will soon be a change for the better. The coal strike in England which will no doubt result in the loss of a great deal of trade, and the unrest and discontent which seems to prevail in nearly all the countries of Europe, give rise to serious financial problems to be reckoned with, but no man in this country who is strong and healthy, can afford to be a pessimist for any length of time. The known and undeveloped resources are sufficient to ensure future prosperity."

New Issue of Stock.

"As mentioned in last year's report a further issue of $2,100,000 of new stock made, making the paid-up capital of the bank $10,500,000, and by the transfer of the premium on the new issue to the reserve account, the reserve now stands at $9,450,000. The shareholders of the bank now number 2,997, against 2,622 in 1920, being an increase of 375 during the year."

Current loans and discounts stand at $10,183,000, as against $11,198,000 last year. It will be seen, therefore, that this bank continues to extend its ample share of assistance to the industries of the country.

General Manager is Optimistic.

Following the president's concise yet comprehensive review of the situation, as reflected in the year's statements, said Mr. Macarow, there is little left for me to add beyond, perhaps, a word of assurance by way of amplification.

It will be observed that in comparison with last year's figure our total assets show a shrinkage of about $7,000,000, or, roughly, 35% per cent, which, in view of all the surrounding circumstances, might be regarded as a satisfactory showing, the liquid position being well maintained the while.

The trend of our interest-bearing deposits for the same period has been steadily upward, an increase in that department of about $7,000,000 being shown, but this gain has been more than offset by the decline in the total ordinary deposits. A year ago, however, under the heading of demand deposits, a sum of about $8,000,000 stood to the credit of the Government in connection with "Victory Loan" payments. This amount, which of course, was of a purely temporary nature, was withdrawn during the year so that, after making allowance for it, the total deposits and total assets about held their own, a satisfactory achievement we have no doubt you will agree.

Crop Reports Are Promising.

Crop conditions throughout the country are at the present moment exceptionally promising. If I may say a word as to general conditions it will be one of tempered optimism, having a due comprehension of the many difficulties which require to be met but having, at the same time, a proper appreciation of the actual and potential riches of this country.

There are indications that the monetary position, broadly speaking, is less stringent and that the general outlook of credit now existing is continuing to develop further.

Altogether, and in a word, it is not difficult to be optimistic as to the future of "Canada Unlimited," to borrow the apt expression recently used by an eminent Canadian.

The Board of Directors was re-elected, with Sir H. Montagu Allan as President, and F. Howard Wilson as Vice-President.

Saskatchewan Offered German Airplane

Souvenir From Canada Air Board Could Be Used.

A German airplane, to be added to the Saskatchewan souvenirs or to be available for flights, is the offer made by the Canada Air Board to the Saskatchewan branch of the Canadian Air Force Association.

The type of machine which would be donated has not been specified, but it is understood that it would be airworthy and not merely something to be put in a hangar and left "to be looked at." At present the only stumbling block to accepting the board's offer is the payment of the freight, estimated at about $200.

Special Rate For Hay.

The Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture has induced the railway companies to quote a special rate of $10 per ton for hay from Montreal to any point in Saskatchewan, provided the feed is purchased by bona fide farmers through the municipal authorities.

It pays to patronize home industry. Buy from the merchants in your own town.

Berlin Buying Gold

Banks and Post Office Are Empowered to Search World.

The Reich Bank and the post office have been empowered to buy gold of all kinds in the world's markets, in order to increase the gold reserves and facilitate repatriation payments without disturbing the basis of paper currency. They are paying 260 paper marks for two gold marks, and for one kilo of fine gold 5,700 marks.

There will be a new rate each week, according to outside currency prices. The Government imposes a tax of 10 per cent on all sales except those of gold. By a law of April 28, barter of gold within Germany is prohibited, and also gold export. Only the Government may buy gold, but there are special concessions to jewelers.

What Tact Is.

Tact is the surmounter of difficulties—the remover of obstacles. It is useful in all places and at all times. It is useful in solitude for it shows a man his way into the world, and in society and commerce, for it enables him to pass successfully through the world.

SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How It May be Overcome—All Mothers Interested.

Toronto, Ont.—"I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to perform an operation, but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps, and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14, Rockville Ave., Toronto.

Those who are troubled as Mrs. Goodman was should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who need special advice may write to Lydia E. Peace River is wildly excited over a gold rush and several parties are "grubbing" up for a trip to a new find the exact location of which is not known.

After cutting every wire leading into the town, bandits blew the safe of the First National Bank at Williams, 18 miles east of Webster City, Iowa, and escaped with about $4,000 in currency.

Belfast's stately city hall was gaily bedecked for the opening of the northern parliament, which will be only surpassed in brilliance of ceremony by the state opening which has been fixed for June 22.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, replying to an inquiry in the House of Commons as to the number of "soldiers" killed or wounded in the "war in Ireland" since January, 1920, said that 127 had been killed and 268 wounded.

In the Sudbury police court a settler was sentenced to one month in jail with hard labor for setting a fire which eventually destroyed half a million feet of pine timber. This is the first jail sentence on record to be meted out for this offence.

Since the inaugural meeting of the League of Nations Society on May 31, many applications for membership have been received. Among others, a unit of the Army and Navy War Veterans has cancelled its total membership.

Healthy, Happy Boys and Girls

Is your child healthy? Is he or she up to standard weight, of good color, with plenty of rich, red blood to nourish the growing tissues?

For children who are thin, pale, anemic, under weight, nervous, restless, sleepless, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of the greatest benefit imaginable.

Being mild and gentle in action, and yet wonderfully potent as a restorative, it soon makes the blood rich and builds up the feeble nerves.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is available in 25c and 50c boxes, or 12 boxes for $5.00, all dealers, or Dr. Chase, 1111 West 12th St., Minneapolis, Minn., U.S.A.

You May Have Kidney Trouble and Not Know It!

If your back aches and you suffer from dragging pains, it is an evidence your kidneys may not be acting just right. What you need is a course with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They contain both Mandrake and Butternut and act very beneficially upon the liver and kidneys. "I was bothered a great deal with my kidneys, but got quick relief from Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My trouble manifested itself by pain in the back and by constant headache. I quickly recovered after using a few boxes of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They brought me health, strength and vigor." Sold everywhere, 25c, or The Catarhectic Co., Montreal.

The Way To Get Through Keep a Cool Head and Face Your Difficulties.

"Don't be put out by anything," says Capt. MacWhirr in his famous comedy "Typhoon" to his first mate during the crash of the element. "Keep your face to it. They may say what they like, but the heaviest seas run with the wind. Facing it—always facing it—that's the way to get through. You are a young sailor. Face it. That's enough for any man. Keep a cool head."

The British public are facing the prolonged coal stoppage in a spirit that would have delighted the gallant Captain MacWhirr—British Weekly.

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to lay away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No winter recreation can be taken than that of keeping at hand a Remedy, a potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

An Inch Of Rain

Weather Man Figures It Is 110 Tons Per Acre.

What is an inch of rain? The weather man has instruments for very accurate measurements of it, just as the measure of the snowfall, the sunshine and the direction and velocity of the wind, to say nothing of the rise and fall of the temperature. An acre is composed of 6,272,640 square inches, and if there was an inch of water on it that would amount to 272,640 cubic inches. There are 27 cubic inches in a gallon, so that 6,272,640 cubic inches equals 22,000 gallons, and that much water would weigh 220,000 pounds, or 110 tons. It figures out, then, that an inch of rain falling at the rate of 110 tons per acre. It is a good thing the tonnage is scattered over so much territory.

Irish Cattle Exports Worth $42,000,000 A Year

During War Country Sent 3,862,223 Head to England.

Before the cattle embargo commission, T. P. Gill, secretary of the Irish department of the Ministry of Agriculture, said that during the war, Ireland sent 3,862,223 head of cattle to Great Britain and last year's value of stock sent was over 42,000,000 pounds sterling.

The removal of the embargo, he said, would mean a marked reduction in home-bred stores, which might prove dangerous to the rationing were again imposed on supplies of cattle from abroad.

No change in British agricultural methods was likely to result in a substantial increase in production of stores in England and Scotland and with Irish energies diverted to other channels, Great Britain's nearest source of supply—and that an uncertain one—would be two thousand miles away.

There is always hope in a man who actually and earnestly works. In distress alone is there perpetual despair—Carlyle.

No matter how costly a thing may be, a woman considers it valueless when she has lost all interest in it.

Tangerine Crepe Makes Gay Frocks

By Marie Belmont.

Tangerine is one of the colors greatly liked this season. It is chosen for the fashioning of this attractive dress that affects the lines so much admired by the young girl and woman of athletic build. The skirt is straight and slightly shirred at the waist-line. The blouse is cut with a U-neck opening. This, however, is partly filled in by a piece of silk which is designed with blocks of black and tangerine. The short sleeves are adorned in the same manner, while pieces of the checkerboard silk are set in where pockets might naturally be expected.

Report Discovery of Iron

Que in Northern Ontario Also Contains Other Elements.

A discovery of a large body of high grade hematite iron ore in the Elk Lake district of Northern Ontario has been reported. Iron was not expected to be found in paying quantities in that district, which is the ore in the great range of which the Atikokan and Moose Mountain deposits are a part of 50 per cent metallic content, but contains other elements that render necessary special blast furnace treatment.

Rural Route No. 1, Macoucher, Que.
The Minister's Liniment People.
"I feel that I should be doing a wrong if I neglected to write you. I have had four tumors growing on my head for years. I had them cut off by a surgeon about fifteen years ago, but they grew again, till about three months ago I had one as large and ugly as a lady's thumb on the very place where my hair should be, and was getting so embarrassing in public that it was constant worry to me. About three months ago I got a bottle of your liniment for another purpose and saw on the label good for tumors. Well I tried it and kept using it for nearly two months, with the result that it has entirely removed all the tumors, and were it not that they had been cut off fifteen years ago, no work would be done. I have been asked for this testimonial and you can use it as you see fit. I have been cured."
(Signed) FRED C. ROBINSON.
P.S.—I am a farmer and intend using Minister's Liniment on more for a wretched tendon, and am hoping for some results."

Few Of Them.

"The young man who does not read the newspapers intelligently has little interest in things worth while," said Thomas A. Edison the other day. "This failure to be interested indicates that the mind is not functioning properly, that the brain is atrophied." Fortunately for the world's progress, there are mighty few of them—The Fourth Estate.

An Oil that is Pried Everywhere.
Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil was put upon the market without any flourish, over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing else to it.

Area Sown To Fall Wheat

Largest Proportion Winter Killed Was In Ontario.

The area estimated to be sown to fall wheat for 1921 was 792,200, of which 748,500 acres were in Ontario, 38,000 acres in Alberta and 14,900 acres in British Columbia, according to the first crop report of the season issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The proportions winter killed are reported as eleven per cent. in Ontario and five per cent. in Alberta; in British Columbia the crop was practically unharmed.

Canada Chose Her Governor-General

London Times Says Dominion Virtually Made Appointment.

Commenting on the appointment of General Lord Byng as Governor-General of Canada, the London Times says the choice could not be bettered, for it endorses a preference expressed in many parts of the Dominion, "Lord Byng will go to Canada as the home of countless friends," the Times says.

Though the actual appointment of the Governor-General rests with the King and his advisors in this country, the Times thinks that it is not too much to say that in this instance the Canadian people have made their own choice. If such preferences on such excellent grounds of close personal knowledge could be expressed with the same frankness every time an appointment of the kind had to be made, it would be a good thing for both this country and the Dominions also, is the Times view.

A DESIRE TO EAT WHAT YOU WANT

Stomachs Can Be Restored to a Healthy Condition.

Not to be limited in diet, but to eat whatever he pleases is the dream of every dyspeptic. No one can honestly promise to restore any stomach to its normal condition, because all people cannot eat the same things with equally satisfactory results. But it is possible to tone up the stomach organs, that a pleasing diet may be selected from articles of food that cause no discomfort.

When the stomach lacks tone there is no quicker way to restore it than to build up the blood. Good digestion without rich, red blood is impossible, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer the best way to enrich the blood. For this reason these pills are especially good in stomach trouble attended by thin blood, and in attacks of nervous indigestion. Proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of indigestion is given by Mr. John A. McDonald, Tarnob, N.S., who says: "Every sufferer from indigestion has my heartfelt sympathy, as I was once myself a bond slave to it. Eating at all became a trial, and as time went on I became a mere skeleton of my former self. I took all sorts of recommended medicines, doctors' and advertised, but to no avail. Then a friend said to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a box and I thought before they were done I could feel a change. The pills did more and by the time they were used I was eating my meals with regularity and enjoyment. My general health is now good, and it is no wonder that I am an enthusiastic advocate of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Wire net fences are being erected in some of our stores, so high that flies are not supposed to get over them. It's a good thing, for flies very often destroy goods that are placed in windows to attract the passers by. We actually went into a restaurant one day to purchase a Boston cream pie to treat one of our best wives, and do you know that if we hadn't devoured that same pie inside of twenty minutes the pest population would have been increased by half a million. A wire netting device keeps the flies out of the window and at the same time does not darken the store.
